Edward A. Rider Contracted Gangrene and Lost Leg from Slight Wound on the Leg. Death Follows the Injury.

Edward Augustus Rider died at his home in McSherrystown Monday, from gangrene and lockjaw, after a term of about two weeks.

He received a slight bruise on one of his knees while at work two weeks ago, and gangrene developed in the knee, which grew very fatal. He was 71 years of age, 8 months and 25 days.

Mr. Rider was a son of the late John Rider and wife of White Hall. His early life was spent on the farm, then moving to McSherrystown, where for fifteen years he was foreman in the former Charles H. Busbey glass factory. Since the closing of this factory some years ago, he was work-

He married Miss Catharine Knub, of White Hall, 48 years ago, who survives, together with the following children—Sylvester Rider, Mrs. I. B. John, Mrs. R. F. Fuchs and Francis Rider, of McSherrytown; William Rider, of Philadelphia; and Edward Rider, of Iriahstown. He also leaves the following sisters, Mrs. Johanna Rider, Littlestown; Mrs. Louisa Wagman, McSherrytown and Mrs. Mary Demier, Midway; and half-sisters Mrs. Anna Adams, York, Miss Ellen Rider and Mrs. F. STACKHOUSE—SCOTT
On Wednesday at two o'clock Miss Josephine Bella Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Scott, of 168 East Middle street, was married to James Lawrence Stackhouse, of Easton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. E. Taylor assisted by Rev. Luther C. Black, of Easton, pastor of the groom. Only the immediate friends were present. The ceremony was performed in the parlor of the bride's home which was tastefully decorated with pink philox, lace, weed, palms and ferns, the color scheme being pink and white. The bride wore a gown of white crepe de chine. Mr. and Mrs. Stackhouse left at four o'clock on a trip to Niagara.

In the incoming class will be a quantity of good foot ball and other athletic team material so that the classes by graduation this year are expected to be more than met and good names may be looked for on the ward of I. G. Baugher, near Annapolis, several trees were thrown down and much of the fruit was damaged by hail. Other orchard men report that the hail was not so severe. It is supposed to have inflicted any serious loss on any individual fruit grower. The hills between Bienville and Beadswater both had high winds but no heavy damage other than the unroofing of the barn of E. P. Fidler below Bienville. The hills between Bienville and the same town, and particularly on the hills from Casstown, at Fairchild only a few drops fell and in Buchanan Valleys there was no rain. The entire west end of the county escaped the damage from the storm and the accompanying

At New Oxford they had rain and high wind but neither did any harm. York Springs and East Berlin both reported rains but no damage. Huntersburg had the storm which visited Gettysburg but not so severe an extent. The lightning played a peculiar freak there when it struck a telephone pole at the home of Forest Davidson and ran along the wires for about five hundred yards when it descended at the porch of the hotel where it stunned S. M. Arnold, A. L. Byers, Edward M. Thomas and Robert King, affecting them so that they could not move for some minutes. Others on the porch

MRS. JOHN JAMISON
Mrs. Catherine Gates Jamison, widow of John Jamison, who was pastor of the United Presbyterian church in Gettysburg for a number of years, died at her home in Indiana on Monday morning aged 77 years.

Mrs. Jamison was born in Pittsburgh and is well remembered here by many Gettysburg people. The United Brethren church, of which Rev. Mr. Jamison was pastor, stood on the site of the present United Brethren church where he was the first pastor, leaving the church about 1867. Mrs. Jamison was a sister-in-law of Judge McClellan, of York street.

At George E. Stock's farm a mile from town along the Boonesville road a large walnut tree at the front of the house was blown down together with several other fine trees. A hay shed, 16 x 40, was reduced to kindling wood and other minor damage is reported.

Charles Brinkharhoff, in Butler township, suffered heavy loss through hail cutting his corn, damaging his fruit and blowing down trees. A number of windows were also broken by the hail.

On the battlefield a score or more trees were blown down but the dam-

While driving on the newly macadamized St. in Biglerville Thurs. morning, Charles Peters was thrown from his vehicle when the horse took fright at a steam roller, used in the construction of the road. He was dragged some distance and one of his ears was almost severed from the head. He also sustained other painful lacerations. Dr. Hildebrand was summoned and he is getting along nicely. Mr. Peters is in the employ of Tyson Brothers and was removed to the home of W. C.

WHERE THE TRUTH LIES.
There met in Chicago on April 8 a national conference lasting three days and attended and participated in by producers of farm, orchard and garden products and commercial agents from different parts of the country. The purpose of the gathering was to discuss methods of correcting the highly unsatisfactory condition which confronts the grower in the marketing of various kinds of produce; also some

7 farmers may secure money on more favorable terms than at present. The discussion on the marketing business brought out some most interesting points, as highly significant facts and figures. The marketing of the milk of the middleman receives all the way from 10 to 100 per cent of the price for the farmers' products; that the Texas ranchman, who produces the best of the milk, gets 10 cents out of every dollar which he consumes has to fork over for his product; the railroads and middlemen are the great operating agencies; that the Danish farmer, through co-operative marketing societies, gets 10 cents out of every dollar which he consumes paid for his milk; and, as showing the vast injustice which American farmers and stockto get up with, shippers were given of the Laredo (Tex.) grower who sells 2 cents a pound for his Bermuda onions, while the consumer in nearby towns has to pay 10 cents a pound for these same onions the next morning; and the Wisconsin cabbage grower who

...and a lot for his cabbage at the fair when these same cabbages cost the consumer in Chicago at the rate of $100 per ton; of the Waspaes (Washolts) grower who got 50 cents a bushel for his crop of c. b. shipping point when these same cabbages cost the consumer in Milwaukee 80 cents a bushel. There were some of the same instances cited where the pro-

Remedies suggested in the conference looking to a correction of these conditions consisted of co-operative organization for marketing purposes, co-operation on the part of consumers and rich both consumer and producer. Thirty-seven different co-operative socieies representing nearly as many states and delegates at the conference, and, through these, influences are to be

A PROFITABLE BUSINESS. Most every farmer who has raised and sold horses that were satisfactory to either speed or draft purposes has believed that there was good money in the horse raising business. The statistics for this belief have been verified in a statement which has been established within a fortnight by the federal department of agriculture. On the strength of reports from 10,000 horse breeders in every part of the country the department investigators have found that there is a profit of approximately 40 per cent on and above the cost of raising horses at the time they reach three years of age. It was found that bringing a colt to three years costs on the average $20.54, while the net-ing price of the average three-year-old is $150.17. It costs more to raise a three-year-old in Rhode Island, where the average selling price is $156.00.

CAUSE OF BEEF SHORTAGE.
According to the year book of stock statistics published by one of the big Chicago packing companies, 5,000,000 pounds weighing on the average average pounds apiece were slaughtered during the year 1917 to supply the demands of the country for veal. Some one has figured out that if these same calves, instead of being killed when they were, had been allowed to grow to the age of a year and reach an average weight of 600 pounds their total to provide one-fifth of the population of a year. And it is felt to assume if these same calves had been allowed to grow in two years and weigh 1,000 seconds they would have furnished sufficient beef to feed 30,000,000 people for a year. Finally, the sorry feature of the killing of all these calves was that their meat was far from being as wholesome or nutritious as beef.

The other day in taking piano lessons at sixty years of age, it being her purpose to install one of these instruments in her dairy barn. Years ago she noticed when playing on an old organ that the cows in the nearby pasture would leave their feeding and come to the fence to listen to the music, and she decided to make a record of the same.

They did this they gave more milk and richer milk than they did on other days. There is an opportunity for the young people in the farm home to turn what is often a very disagreeable and irksome duty to a practical account. How-

NO MARRIAGE LICENSES HERE

New Law Requiring Parents to be Base and not Affiliated with Transmissible Disease in Effect.

Discouraged and disheartened by the provisions of the new eugenics law approved last December by the legislature, which has placed restrictions in Adams County, for the time being at least, on the right of parents to obtain a marriage license, the county clerk has made application before the Circuit Court of Adams County for a writ of habeas corpus to nullify the law.

Under the new law both parties must certify that they are of sound mind, without any transmissible disease, and that they are not afflicted with contagious or infectious diseases for which they are liable for indictment purposes, in order to be able to secure license. The law provides the certification of the bride and groom's fitness to marry shall be made in writing but on the forms and necessary books have not yet been furnished it is up to our own clerk, together with the county clerk, to make of the state, to seek questions until such further order.

For years the people applying in Gettysburg for license have been asked "What is the disease of the bride and groom?" and to put questions like these, "Are you drunk?" "Are you sane?" "Are you dependent upon charity for your maintenance?"

The State Department of Health is to prepare and provide the county with a proper form of application for license, and may review the form from time to time as may be necessary. The law says:

"No license to marry shall be granted to any couple of the contracting parties being an imbecile, epileptic, or unsound mind, or upon guardianship as a result of insanity, nor to any male person who is or has been within five years an inmate of any insane asylum or home for indigent persons, unless it satisfactorily appears that the cause of confinement has been removed and that such male applicant is physically able to conduct a family or, if at the time of making application, under the influence of an intoxicating drink, or under the influence of any license shall be valid for a longer period than thirty days from the date of issue."

When the right to a license is refused to issue, the clerk shall refuse to issue, and shall call at once upon the recording clerk of the probate court, notifying the applicant of his action. The applicant may then appeal to the probate court, and if the finding of a license ought to be issued, the clerk shall issue the same, and if he finds that the action was not an expense to applicant, nothing in the law shall be construed to authorize the marriage of persons not of legal age without the consent of parent or guardian.

on Sunday Forced to pay Fines and Costs. Anxious to Know about Future Course.

At a hearing on Monday five men and six women pled guilty for operating a business on the business on the Sunday provisions, at Pen-Mar park.

J. F. Crout, for selling soda and cigarettes; Mrs. Anna Coffman, for selling cigarettes; Mabel C. Crout, for conducting a bowling alley and selling cigarettes; Owen D. Sherry, for running a bowling alley and selling soda, and for conducting a business of amusements, were fined $20 each and costs, which amounted to $2.00 each.

George Lutz suffered the most. He was fined $50 for operating a slot machine; his fine amounted to $52.00.

What the outcome of this action will be is not known. The men were not given any knowledge of what they would face in the future, although they knew that if they spent upon again they will be in line for another loss.

The case was telegraphed to the Western Maryland railway as to what they should do and it is understood that that company agreed to stand back of them.

In Smith, son of Augustus Smith, of near Orem, employed in the Lands and Survey Department, and a well-known swimmer, while swimming in the Antietam creek, south of that town.

Smith, who is twenty-five years of age, was seen by a hunter, who left for the creek shortly after lunch and were only in the creek a short time when Smith dove into a deep hole and disappeared.

The shock of the deep seemed to stun him and he began to sink. He rose once and went under again. Black, who was with him, saw him sink and hurried toward the spot where he had seen his friend disappear.

When Smith came to the surface the hunter saw him and helped him and dragged him to the bank, where he worked for fifteen minutes before he was able to revive him.

After Smith and his father, his reverer started for home after the former, however, being in a weak condition. He was much better, Monday, and was on duty in the shop.

Adams and York County Red Men Hold Meeting at York Haven.

York Haven, last Saturday were estimated at 2000 visitors, the occasion of the sixth annual York-Adams district convention. The program was well planned. Mrs. Tawn was attractively decorated, the American flag floating proudly from the top of the main entrance tower, many of whom were in York Haven for the first time. The program was York Haven's first ball, power plants, quarries and other interesting places. The program was well planned. The prizes of York-Adams counties were represented. Much business was transacted. The address of the day was the winning of Glen Rock for the meeting of 1914 with a possibility of its meeting in 1915. The program was well planned. HOGS FOR BREEDING.

Points That Indicate Pork Producing Qualities in Swine.

In selecting a sire for breeding the first thing to determine, of course, is the type of animal to be raised, say, a corresponded of Rural New York.

This may depend on the demands of the market and the relative cost of producing the various types. For most men best farmers the production of the best type of swine is the first thing to be preferred to the production of hogs for meat.

The points which the breeder demands of the first hog are a large

(Official Correspondence.)

The general activities of Captain Russell J. Fox, are noteworthy. They comprise twenty-four syndicate groups in the county and a Tractor group, which is the largest of the county, and which has control of the county of the state. The group, half, located in Center Hall, Pa., is the headquarters of several of the groups in the county. The groups are entirely successful. It has been the evident sign of a new era in educational and social life in the little town of Center Hall, Pa., and the townspeople that realize from it have moved beyond the narrow limits of the town and reached the community for miles around.

Among the noteworthy activities of the Tractor group, are the fair and amusement grounds, owned by the group and incorporated. Group parties are held at the fair grounds, and the group has a large number of members.
